Lucy uttered a scream of joy, and, claspme Ellen around the neck, murmured Father in Heaven, I thank thee;' and then fainted with excess of happiness. Her swoon was brief. She recovered almost immediately, and her face was radiant with mated danger in the illness of his torothed. It had been delayed on the way and but half the time of its journey had sufficed to bring the eager, anxious stu-dens to the spot where his heart has shared its affections, and centred its hones next to heaven; for Clarence was more than a noble-hearted, high-souled man; he was the disciple of Jesus Christ; and he was fitting himself to be an apostle of his holy religion. He had nearly completed his ed to the beautiful Lucy May. Three months before the Sabbath evenng of which we write, Lucy was in health and with her companion Ellen was performing her delightful duties as a Sabbath school teacher. Returning home she was exposed to a sudden storm of rain, and took old. Her constitution, naturally weak, was speedily affected, and consumption, that terrible foe of youth and beauty, seized upon her as another victim for its mighty holocaust of death. At first the type of er disease was mild, but within three weeks it had assumed a fearful character. and now her days were evidently few.

For this deadful intelligence Clarence was not prepared. TUESDAY MORNING, March 25, 1866. DEMOCRATIC DISTRICT CONVEN-TION!

Let our friends throughout the District bear in mind that Edenton is the place, and the 8th of April the time, for holding our Convention. The time is nearly upon us, and we trust that a proper interest will be manifested in the matter by our party.

We are under obligations to our esteemed friend, A. M. Vaughan, Esq., Postmaster at Norfolk, for full files of late California papers.

LT The "American Banner" is the title of a paper just published in Edenton, under the editorial control of Henry E. Colton. It is Know-Nothing in politics: and while we wish it may do nothing sucocssful in that behalf we wish It great prosperity otherwise.

Messrs. Samuel Caruthers and Morde cai Oliver, heretofore Whig members of Congress, from Missouri, have come out in addresses to their constituents, reprobating Know-Nothingism, and attaching themselves to the Democratic party.

The Norfolk Herald says that the "Argus" was entitled to the credit of an article which we ascribed to it (the Herald) last week. We clipped the extract from the Argus; but understood that paper to say that it was taken from the Herald .in error, we are entirely willing to make the proper correction. The article referred to (we suppose) was in relation to Mr. Fillmore's visit to the Pope.

The people of Norfolk are highly indignant at the neglect of the Virginia Legislature in doing pothing for the improvement of their Town, and its oppression in subjecting them to heavy taxation. Certainly, there is some justice to the complaint on the score of neglet, for among the various appropriations for works ting things take their own course! NEW HAMPSHIRE ELECTION. The recent election in New Hampshire resulted in a plurality for the Democratic candidrte for Governor over the highest of his competitors-thus clearly demonstrating that the Democracy of the Granite State are fast righting themselves, and that, by the Presidential election, New Hampehire will be all right. At the proceding election, they were beaten by 10 .-600-pow they have overcome this heavy vote, and come out ahead of all parties .-But they did not get a majority over both the other parties combined, and hence there was no election by the people. They will thus lose the Governor, whose election will be referred to the Legislature, which contains a small majority for the opposition. But they got more votes than any other party before the people.

COL. PAINE'S COURSE ON THE SPEAKERSHIP.

By various causes we have been prevented, until very recently, from giving of the House of Representatives which their importance well entitled them to .-In availing ourself of the first opportunity presented of scanning a portion of a careful watchfulness of the course of the Representative from this District; and, as him on the record touching certain acts and speeches during the exciting scenes that were enacted previous to the organisation of the House. Our facts are taken from the official record—the Congressional declared the Speaker of the House of Representatives for the Thirty Fourth Congress of the United States.

On the 16th of January, Mr. Thorington, of Iowa, submitted the following res-

Upon calling the roll, we find all the Representatives from this State who voted at all. voted no. They were Messrs. Branch, Clingman, Craige, Ruffin and Winslow, (the full Democratic delegation,) and Mr. Reade, Know-Nothing. Mr. Purvear's name does not appear at all:-Col. Paine did not vote on the resolution, but sumitted the following explanation of Mr. PAINE (on his name being called) said: Mr. Clerk, in voting on the resolution before the House no opportunity is allowed me to express a preference in the selection of a member of this body to occupy the Speaker's chair. In the course I shall take I desire simply to show that I am not willing to stand in the way of an organization, unless the occasion arise when I may believe it to be my imperative duty to defeat such an organization. I cannot support the resolution, but, being unwilling to assert that no other gentleman than the honorable gentleman from Pennsylvania We are under the impression still; but, if [Mr. Fuller] should be elected to preside over us, I abstain from voting against it, and therefore decline to vote.

This brief speech is full of food for thought. "In the course I shall take, I desire simply to show that I am not willing to stand in the way of an organization, unless the occasion arise when I may believe it to be my imperative duty to defeat such an organization." He did not "stand in the way of' the passage of a resolution which would have made Mr. Campbell of the United States who does not sepre. Speaker. He did not believe it his "im sent" their own views. The Know-Noth- perative duty to defeat such an organiza tion" as that!

"I cannot support the resolution," but I abstain from voting against it!" It is somewhere said that "he that is not for me is against me;" and, if Mr. Campbell The New York Herald says that had been elected under that resolution, we do not see why Col. Paine would not have been responsible for the result to the full extent of his vote. He would not do the deed, but he would stand by and permit it to be done! He would not throw himself into the breach-he would not interpose himself to shield the South from the infliction of such a Speaker as Lewis D. Campbell! He could not vote for him-but did not believe it to be his imperative duty to defeat the resolution which would have elected him! We are not criticising the absurd logic of the speech-that is a small matter. But we are criticising its conflicting sentiments—the impelling causes of Col. Paine's action on this momentous issue. His colleagues presented an undivided front against the resolution, (except Mr. Puryear, who did not present himself at all.) Mr. Reade, the front man of the K. N. delegation from this State, regarded it as his "imperative duty to defeat such an organization," as that proposed by the resolution. He united with the entire Democratic delegation to defeat the election of the Ohio Abolitionist; but Col. Paine stood aloof from the contest; and, by standing aloof, gave an opportunity to the Freesoilers to "let Campbell' slide" into the Speakership! Col. Paine would not take the responsibility of recording his vote on either side of the question-but he did take the responsibility of standing still and lethis constituents ponder these things well, and at the proper time, hold him to a pro> per responsibility. Chapter No. 2 pext week.

They whiningly complain that they ean't arouse the people to patriotic liberality! No! they cannot. When the people saw that this great national work had passed into the hands of a corrupt oathbound secret organization, they laid their trust them with their money-they would not sanction the perversion of a national work to the vile purposes of an oath-bound party! And hence, under Know-Nothing rule, the work upon the Washington Monument has been suspended-a beautiful illustration of the peculiar fitness of 'Americans' to rule America!

DONELSON ON FILLMORE.

The betrayal of friend is an act which all men stamp with infamy; and the acceptance of service under the leadership of an old enemy-when that service is attended with every species of fawning and flattery -is an offence very little behind it in popular estimation. When Major Donelson was the editor of the Washington Union, he denounced Mr. Fillmore in unmeasured terms-denouncing his Abolition proclivities and characterising him as a "monster." Here is what Donelson wrote of Fillmore on the 29th of May, 1851:

It will be in vain hereafter that the special organ may flatter itself that there is substantial difference between Messrs. Summer and Rantoul, and the President and the members of his cabinet. If the to the infected abolition feeling of a portion of New York as to be obliged to denounce all the great men who have sanctioned the acquisitions of territory from France, Spain and Mexico-if the revolted sentiment of Massachusetts is to be appeased by the assurance that it was a misfortune that Southern obstinacy and prejudice would not agree for abolition juries to try their right of property-if the anti-slavery fanaticism not only of this country, but of all Europe, is to be propitiated by the assurance that the admission of slave territory into our Union is unconstitutional—the time has come when the people of this country will not be amused by the flimsy idea that Mr. Sumner is a monster because he declares that the fugitlye in Boston shall not be surrendered before trial there. and Mr. Fillmore is a patriot and hero because he thinks the negro ought to have that trial, but yet declared that he will execute the laws refusing it.

Again, in the same paper:

If the public sentiment had not been misled by such letters as Mr. Fillmore wrote to the abolition societies of New York, and by the eloquence of Mr. Webster, denouncing, as he admits he did, the institution of slavery as a curse and the extension of our territory in the South as a violation of the constitution, the dangers foreseen by Washington would not now be the subject of humiliating explanation and apology on the part of the President and his cabinet, and the means by which the whig party hopes to perpetuate its power.

These were a part of the denunciations almost daily heaped upon Mr. Fillmore by Mr. Donelson. They are now running on the same ticket! And the author of these denunciations is as loud in his praises now as he was in his denunciations then! And. to complete the picture, the Know-Nothings who (as Whigs) poured out the vials of their wrath upon Mr. Donelson's head then, now in turn heap upon him mountains of fulsome adulation-even embracing the great Jackson in their praises!

A PROCLAMATION

By his Excellency THOMAS BRAGG, Governor of the State of North Carolina.

WHEREBS, an act was passed by the last General Assembly of this State, by a vote of three-fifths of all the members thereof, a duly certified copy of which is as follows:

AN ACT to amend the Constitution of the State of North Carolina. Whereas, A large number of the people are disfranchised by the freehold qualification now required of voters for members of the Senate who buy for Cash. His stock consists of RICH VELVET TAPESTRY & RRUSSELS CARPETS.

SEC. 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina, and it is kereby enacted by the authority of the same, (three-fifths of the whole number of members of each House con-curring,) That the 2d clause of the 1st section of the 1st article of the amended Constitution. ratified by the people of North Carolina on the second Monday of November, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and thirty-five, shall be amended to read as follows: Every free while man of the age of twenty-one years, being a native or naturalized citizen of the United States, and who has been an inhabitant of the State for twelve months immediately preceding the day of any election, and shall have paid pubic taxes, shall be entitled to vote for a member of the Senate for the district in which he resides.

SEC. 2. Beit further enacted, That the Governor of the State be, and he is hereby directed to is ue his proclamation to the people of North Carolina, at least six months before the next election for members of the General Assembly setting forth the purport of this act, and the amendment to the Constitution herein propose. which procl mation shall be accompanied by a true and perfect copy of the act, authenticated by the certificate of the Secretary of State, and both the proclamation and the copy of this act, the Governor of the State shall cause to be pub-lished in ten newspapers of this State, at least six months before the election of members to the Gener I Assembly, Read three times and ratified in General Assembly this 3d day of February, 1855. SAM'L P. HILL

Speaker of the House of Commons, WARREN WINSLOW, Speaker of the Senate.

Transparent Shaden Pursions O Yeather Beds, Mattreette, Sc., with me

BY MRS. L. H. SIGOURNEY.

The first-born child of English parents in the Western World was the granddaughter of Governor White, who planted a short-lived colony at Roanoke, Virginia, in the year 1587.]

Twas lovely in the deep greenwood Of old Virginia's glade, Ese the sharp axe amid its boughs A fearful chasm had made; Long spikes of rich catalpa flowers Hung pendent from the tree, And the maqudia's ample cup O'erflowed with fragrance free ::

And through the shades the antiered deer Like fairy visions flew, And mighty vines from tree to tree Their wealth of clusters threw, While winged odors from the hills Reviving welcome bore, To great the stranger bands that came From Albion's distant shore.

Up rose their roofs in copse and dell, Outpealed the laborer's born. And graceful through the broken mould Peered forth their tasseled corn; While from one rose enciroled bower, Hid in the nested grove, Game, blending with the robin's lay, The lullaby of love ..

There sang a mother to her babe-A mother young and fair—
"No flower like thee adorns the vale, O sweet Virginia Dare! Thou art the lilly of our love, The forest's sylph-like queen, The first-born bud from Saxon stem That this New World hath seen ;.

"Thy father's axe in thicket rings, To fell the kingly tree; Thy grandsire sails o'er ocean-brine-A gallant man is he! And when once more, from England's realm. He comes with bounty rare, A thousand gifts to thee he'll bring, Mine own Virginia Dare!"

As sweet that mother's loving tones Their warbled music shed, As though in proud baronial hall, O'er silken cradle-bed ; No more the pomps and gauds of life Maintained their strong control, For holy love's new gift had shed Fresh greenness o'er her soul.

And when the husband from his toil Returned at closing day, How dear to him the lowly home Where all his treasures lay. "O, Ellinor! 'tis naught te me, The hardship or the storm, While thus thy blessed smile I see, And clasp our infant's form."

No secret sigh o'er pleasures lost Convulsed their tranquil breast, For where the pure affections dwell The heart hath perfect rest. So fled the Summer's balmy prime, The Autumn's golden wing, And Winter laid his hoary head Upon the lap of Spring.

Yet oft, with wily, wary step, The red-browed Indian crept Close round his pale-faced neighbor's home, And listened while they slept; But fierce Wingina, lofty chief, Aloof, their movements eyed, Nor courteous bowed his plumed head Nor checked his haughty stride.

John White leaped from his vessel's prow, He had braved the boisterous sea, And boldly rode the mountain-wave-A stalwart man was he. John White leaped from his vessel's prow.

And joy was in his eye, For his daughter's smile had lured him on Amid the stormiest sky.

green? The smoke-wreaths curling high? He calls-he shouts-the cherished names, But Echo makes reply.
"Where art thou, Ellinor! my child!

And sweet Virginia Dare! O, silver cloud, that cleaves the blue Like angel's wing-say where!

"Where is the glorious Saxon vine --- ! We set so strong and fair?" The stern gray rocks in mockery smiled. And coldly answered "where !!! "Ho / flitting savage / stay thy step,
And tell--" but light as air He vanished, and the falling stream Responsive murmured—" where "

So, o'er the rui ed palisade, The blackened threshold-stone. That old man wept-alone! And mournful rose his wild lament, In accents of despair, For the lost daughter of his love, And young Virginia Dare:

NOTICE. TAKE GREAT PLEASURE IN ANNOUNCing to my friends that I have returned safe from Europe, and deeply regret to learn the sad intelligence that the Yellow Fever is prevailing in Norfolk to an alarming extent, and all communication is cut off, and probably merchants will be compelled to look elsewhere for their fall supplies. I therefore have concluded to open an establishment in New York, and invite special attention to my extensive assortment of HATS, CAPS AND FURS. My long practical experience and extensive acquaintance in Virginia and North Carolina warrants me in saying that you will find it greatly to your advantage to continue your patronage, so liberally conferred upon me for the last ten years. My Fall and Winter style of Hats are unique, and for elegance, durability and cheapness, cannot be surpassed.
